Middle School Teacher

Full-Time/Exempt

Chartwell School is seeking a middle school teacher to join our team. The position is currently available.

We are an independent school on the Monterey Peninsula in coastal California, approximately 100 miles south of San Francisco. Chartwell is 35 years old and serves students in grades 2-12, who have been identified as having dyslexia or related language-based learning differences. Class sizes are small and teachers individualize instruction while teaching to small groups.

The successful candidate is responsible for understanding student learning profiles and scaffolding language arts, humanities, and/or math instruction to bring students toward grade level in specific academic skills.

Chartwell offers a unique professional growth opportunity for teachers who want to grow their practice toward including a deep understanding of cognitive learning profiles and brain-based educational practices. Professional development is strongly supported by the school, as our culture values continuous learning and innovation of instructional practice to meet the unique needs of cognitively diverse learners.

Most importantly, we seek teachers who intuit that the central aspect of teaching is creating trusting and respectful relationships with all students.

Core competencies: Team player/collaborative, continuous learner/growth mindset, innovative thinker, problem-solver, takes initiative, belief in the ability of all students to achieve, commitment, ability to scaffold and differentiate instruction, ability to establish rapport and build strong relationships with students.

This position is currently available. Compensation is commensurate with qualifications and experience; medical benefits are included.

Mission

Chartwell School empowers bright students with language-based learning differences, including dyslexia. We do this in grades K-12 by offering them the knowledge, creativity, and skills in self advocacy and perseverance needed to thrive in college and beyond.

Vision

Chartwell aspires to show the world that young people with language-based learning differences and diverse learning styles and profiles can be among the most creative, productive and valuable members of any community. We further aim to inspire others to get to know, understand and value these students from very young ages and to help them realize their full potential. We seek to see them develop into confident young people and adults, committed to lifelong learning and equipped with the knowledge, skills and social and emotional competencies to achieve their goals.
